

V-NEO to present Insurtech QC Pitch Contest during Insurtech QC Conference on April 13rd, 2018

Québec, February 19th, 2018 – V-NEO is partnering with Québec Numérique for its Insurtech QC event to present the Pitch Contest for innovation in insurance, as part of the 3rd Semaine numérique de Québec.

The contest will feature innovative companies vying to present the most cutting-edge digital project for the field of insurance. Would you like to give it a shot? Are you fascinated by digital technology and innovation? Here are the criteria for entering:

- Yours is a Canadian company that designs marketable, insurance-related digital products or services.
- You started your business more than one year ago and have a sales track record.

Do you think you have a prize-winning idea? Enter the Insurtech QC Pitch Contest presented by V-NEO.

Nine finalists will be shortlisted to make a 10-minute pitch on stage, in front of Insurtech QC attendees and exchange with a bilingual jury of influential industry executives and seasoned partners interested in the next generation of entrepreneurs. In addition to great exposure, you will have a chance to win a monetary prize.

What is Insurtech QC?

Insurance is a vital industry undergoing a major transformation. Like its big brother, Fintech, Insurtech consists of innovations aimed at reshaping products, distribution models and the client experience. Insurtech QC's programming showcases new business models and cutting-edge technology, including peer-to-peer insurance, robo-advice, telematics, artificial intelligence and blockchain.

Be sure to circle Friday, April 13rd in your calendar, because Insurtech QC is your chance to

- meet startups, insurers and industry leaders at the forefront of innovation, and witness the amazing pitch contest;
- learn how key industry players are using new technology to power the insurance of tomorrow.
